LUCKNOW ZOOLOGICAL GARDEN CLEAN UP-Our Teen Soldiers collected the waste from the streets and put them in the bin at the Lucknow Zoo. Visitors were encouraged to not throw over the used plastic packets, plastic plates, empty tin cans, plastic juice packs, etc, in the campus, which was warmly welcomed by the zoo staff and the people visiting the garden. Visitors helped us a lot in our work by handing over the used plastic packets, plastic plates, empty tin cans, plastic juice packs, etc, and not throwing them anywhere else in the campus. Some even stepped forward and helped our team collect the waste that was littered all around the campus. In a few hours time we were able to fill 3 garbage bags and 2 dustbins with non-biodegradable waste.

SPARROW REHABILITATION-This project was initiated in the school campus by School Children with the aim of rehabilitating endangered birds through constructing safe bird houses through wood scrapes.The project successfully promoted the need to conserve our country's birds.The project on Sparrow Rehabilitation was conceived by Sir Arun Krishnamurthy, a passionate environmentalist, who has been a great source of inspiration for all Doer Leaders.

The project took place in the grounds of La Martiniere College on the 18th of December, 2011 where Doer Leaders from both La Martiniere Boys' & Girls' joined hands to protect the sparrow community. The project work started with the help of sample nests sent by Arun sir from Chennai. He coordinated with the Doer Leaders regarding other requirements that helped our project gain momentum.

The nests that we constructed were made out of scrap wood shafts collected from the school campus. Narayan Bhaiya (carpenter at La Martiniere Boys') too, along with the enthusiastic group of boys and girls, had immense fun sawing the wood into the required sizes. The girls especially had a great time drilling holes into the nests, though their slender yet strong hands were vibrating more than the drilling machine itself!

The pieces were then nailed together and the nests were painted in camouflaging green hues to attract birds to habitate in them.

The above is a sample of some of the activities which have been carried out or possible to carry out under INDIA Redefined Banner.
